WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP) — Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today a study of the Federal public housing authority's bookkeeping showed that "yes" amounts of Government money seemed to have disappeared.

"Whether anyone did any stealing I don't know," the Wisconsin senator remarked at a hearing of a Senate expenditures subcommittee.

Herbert Emmerich, former FPHA commissioner, testified.

"There hasn't been any showing that anyone lined his pockets," said Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), a member of the subcommittee along with McCarthy, said the bookkeeping survey had uncovered a $26,250 "fraud." And McCarthy declared that one $608,261 item was either a "mistake in bookkeeping or defalcation."

The subcommittee is investigating the FPHA's 1945-46 accounts were "inadequate, inaccurate and otherwise deficient."

Those were some of the conclusions of Price, Waterhouse and company, a public accounting firm. The company surveyed FPHA accounts at the request of the U. S. General Accounting office.

Stephen B. Ives, chief of the GAO's corporation audits division, testified nothing in the survey indicated any defalcation of money.

curities so far as money matters are concerned.

Senator O'Connor (D-Md.), the subcommittee chairman, asked whether the GAO has found any evidence of "defalcation, embezzlement or shortages" for the period since the Price, Waterhouse survey.

Ives mentioned "three or four cases recently where there have been defalcations." He said these were disclosed "by FPHA itself, not by our audits."

Ives said these defalcations were "under $10,000" with the exception of "one in Michigan which, as I recall, ran a little bit larger." He did not elaborate.

In a statement made when the subcommittee began, O'Connor said his subcommittee has been advised "that changes have been made affecting the individuals who were in positions of responsibility during the period covered by the report" of the public accountants.

"Further, it is declared, O'Connor said, 'the present officials are making every effort to avoid any errors and to maintain present records as they should be kept.'"

The Price, Waterhouse company went over FPHA books for the two years starting July 1, 1944 and ending June 30, 1946. It said they were in too bad shape to be audited because of "poor records" and administration in earlier years, including the time Emmerich headed the agency.

WOUNDED LOVER WAS ROUGHED, DANCER CLAIMS

Mee Reached for Sword Before Patricia Schmidt Fired Bullet, Court Told

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 14 (P)—Patricia Schmidt testified today that her wounded lover, John Mee, was handled so roughly by the men who removed him from his yacht in Havana harbor the past April "I feared they would kill him."

The 22-year-old Toledo, Ohio, dancer told the court trying her for the slaying of the Chicago attorney that she fired the bullet that struck his neck after she saw him reach for a steel sword she had used in performing her exotic dances in Caribbean night clubs.

Again clad in black as on the opening of her trial the past Wednesday, the sly-eyed dancer declared Mee had been beaten many times, but despite his actions "I slept on the boat every night. I was always afraid. But I loved him and hoped I could help him and so I stayed with him."

Gangland Revenge Termed Motive in Philadelphia Slaying

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14 (P)—Possibility of a gangland killing was seen by Detective Lt. Frank May in the finding today of the slain body of a man stabbed in the chest and savagely beaten about the head.

May identified the man as Joseph (Broadway Joe) di Lucas, 35. His body was found trussed with a rope and wrapped in a blanket in a South Philadelphia field adjoining the Navy yard.

Nine years ago di Lucas and three other men were charged with attempting to kill Joseph Pugliese not far from the same spot where di Lucas' body was found today. Pugliese testified at the trial that the attempted killing resulted from a war between two alcohol rings. Di Lucas and the others were convicted and sentenced to serve three to six years in the penitentiary.

Di Lucas' body was found by a railroad inspector, James Pinto, police fingerprint expert, said the body was still warm when he made his examination. A half-inch Manila rope had been used to bind the man's ankles and tie his arms to his side. The body, dressed in a natty blue plaid suit, then was wrapped in an Army blanket and dumped amid trampled weeds and wildflowers in the field.

Bank Bandit Takes Life After Trapped by Posse

MCCULLOUGH, Ala., Oct. 14 (P)—A masked bandit robbed the Farmers Exchange bank of $800 today and then killed himself two hours later when cornered by a posse and bloodhounds in a wooded area near here.

State Highway Patrolman Tom P. Melton identified the robber as W. C. Edwards, 30, of Atmore, Ala. The officer said the bandit entered the bank lined two customers against the wall at gunpoint, and will present his case.

In her testimony today she had noticed a change in Mee's attitude toward her.

"He became a brute to me," she said.

Under questioning by the prosecution, which is asking for a 30-year prison sentence, she gave this account of the shooting:

"Jack, (her name for Mee) said he was going to kill me. I could not believe the words I heard. He reached to the right and I saw him reach for the sword."

"Like a flash in my mind I remembered the gun in the drawer beside me. I grabbed the gun and told him 'Jack, look out. I've got a gun.' The shot was fired. I hardly know how or when."

"I cried out 'what have I done?' First I started to run up the ladder but Jack said he was hurt and asked me to come to him. I was still afraid of him but he said his arms were useless. I went to him and saw he was wounded in the neck."

Under questioning by the prosecution, which is asking for a 30-year prison sentence, she gave this account of the shooting:

Food Group Approves Meat By-Products on Tuesday Dinner Tables

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (P)—Rules for "meatless Tuesday" were relaxed today. You can eat liver, kidneys, brains and other by-products and still conform.

Charles Luckman, chairman of the citizens food committee directing a national drive to save grain to feed western Europeans, told reporters after his 26-member group met on policy today that:

1. The committee hopes to encourage use of meat by-products "which are in plentiful supply" and which may be used on Tuesdays under the altered program. (The list also contains sweetbreads, hearts, pigs feet, pigs knuckles, tripe, oxtails and tongue.)
  2. The committee will ask the brewing industry to reduce beer and ale production to save more grain. Brewers will consult with Luckman tomorrow.
  3. Luckman said a request to the baking industry to produce a smaller bread loaf is under study. He noted there are many problems, such as pan sizes which cannot be changed overnight. He added that one suggested solution is to cut down on the height of the loaf, and that it could be done with the present pans.
  4. Luckman said a number of states have indicated a willingness to waive weight regulations on bread loaves if the committee believes a smaller loaf is desirable.
- Luckman indicated no change is intended in the committee's request that Americans do without eggs and poultry on Thursday.
- But he acknowledged that there are "two schools of thought" as to

Three Dollar Wheat Continues in Chicago

By The Associated Press

Three dollar a bushel wheat turned up in the Chicago spot market yesterday for the second consecutive trading day as the nation's high cost of living edged close to the record peak again.

The major exception to the upward trend was butter, which dropped to the lowest wholesale price level in Chicago since June 27, the top grade selling at 67 cents a pound.

New Housing Plan Studied in Reading

READING, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Reading housing authority is exploring a new method of financing low-rent housing which may add 128 units to Glenside homes and make a substantial contribution toward solving the city's critical housing shortage.

H. M. Hensler, chairman of the authority, outlined a contemplated plan at a meeting of the group tonight.

Briefly, his scheme calls for the floating of a bond issue and the use of excess Federal subsidies from the homes now existing in the Glenside community. It also would take advantage of certain economies such as using the present central heating plant for the additional 128 units.

If the authority is successful in carrying out the plan, it will be pioneering in Pennsylvania. Hensler said. Heretofore, construction of new units was predicted upon the passage of the Wagner-Elender-Taft bill which would have made available new Federal subsidies for low-rent housing.

Jury Convicts Man For Shooting Wife

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14 (AP)—A jury of eight men and four women found George Gallagher, 35, Philadelphia, guilty of shooting his wife, Florence, in their home the past May 4 in an argument over a former husband and fixed a penalty of life imprisonment.

Gallagher testified he aimed the gun at a kitchen wall to show his wife what he was going to do to her former husband and that she walked in front of the burst of fire.

The jury deliberated 45 minutes before returning the verdict to Quarter Sessions Judge Joseph L. Kun. Judge Kun deferred sentencing pending a motion by defense counsel for a new trial.

How to Save Grain

IF WE are to save 200,000,000 bushels of grain for Europe out of our short supply, the transition from ballyhoo to scientific dieting will have to be made quickly.

Some of the news of Pottstown's "meatless Tuesday" indicates that some substitutes did not bring us much closer to the goal.

Many menus evaded meat by serving spaghetti—made from the highest quality of wheat most in demand for export to Italy in normal times.

If we wish to save grain, a time-tested method is available. Here it is:

1. Slaughter meat animals quickly, eat the meat, and divert to direct human consumption the grain that would otherwise have been used for the expensive final fattening.

2. Eat more potatoes with their peelings. The peel is the best part. Baking potatoes is the most economical way to cook them.

3. Use peas and beans for proteins. With their wealth of soybeans, Illinois has the key to the protein problem. In the black-eyed pea, the South has an incomparable protein food. According to Dr. Charles Mayo, it is the black-eyed pea that kept the Civil War going so long.

4. Not always, but right now, it will help Europe to eat more rice. Last year rice was scarce. But on Sept. 25 the Department of Agriculture set up a new program to lend money to rice growers hard hit by price declines. More than a third of the human race lives mainly on rice.

If the American people would quit polishing rice and eat it rough, they might agree with the Chinese that it is the best all-around food in the world.

Lives vs. Minutes

WHY, ask those who are shocked by our annual traffic death rate, do motorists weave in and out of traffic lanes? Why do they blast their horns when another auto fails to get away fast when the stop light changes to green? Why do drivers stopping at intersections ease their vehicles over the crosswalks, thus blocking pedestrian lanes?

The answer is no less shameful than it is simple. The motorist just wants to get some place in a hurry. He is maddened by the potentialities of speed in the powerful machine he drives, he is intoxicated with the idea that this modern age demands haste at all times.

He wants to get someplace in just a little less time than he got there the last time so he can prate and boast of his prowess as a madcap Barney Oldfield. It makes good conversation. But so do funerals. And the average modern driver is contributing equally to both subjects of conversation.

Traffic engineers who design our streets and highways have done everything in their power to minimize the danger of driving. Enforcement officials are likewise improving and standardizing regulations to take the bugs out of traffic hazards. They are engaged in a life and death race with increasing auto production. One major fault in our modern life deters them. That fault is the irresponsible attitude of the man behind the wheel.

All the education, enforcement and engineering we can muster will be of little avail if the individual driver persists in the attitude that the spectre of accidents will not touch him and he can indulge in excessive speed and reckless driving. In the final analysis, each individual must do his or her part if we are to save the lives of our friends, our families, or ourselves.

Saving lives is infinitely more important than saving minutes.

UN, Refugee From the Dollar?

REMOVAL of the United Nations General Assembly from the United States to Switzerland has been proposed to save dollars—not just money, but United States dollars. Nations other than the United States are short of United States dollars because of the sickness of international trade. It is a sickness that always leads to economic war unless cured in time, and sometimes leads to shooting war.

It is a bitterly ironic thing that UN should consider moving from Lake Success to Geneva to escape the consequences of a condition that could cause war, instead of seeking to cure the condition. If this is the spirit of the United Nations, the logical conclusion would be not only to move to Geneva but also to provide the delegates with the most modern and up-to-date bomb shelter.

She's Had Her Fun

To the Editor: Because of the editorial on Halloween in the Mercury I decided to write you a little story about how I accomplished a scary feat without even putting on a hobgoblin costume.

All I did was come down with a high fever. While mother and daddy kept a constant vigil, neighbors and friends took short breaths for it was the polio season.

Then when I was given a nice ambulance ride to Riverview Osteopathic hospital, the old adage how the story grew proved itself.

Folks had me a polio victim, paralyzed from the waist down. Nearby folks cancelled arrangements for having visitors. Brother Mel had the yard all to himself as folks called my folks wanting to know if it was true I got stiff etc.

My physician, Dr. Charles Lichtenwalner, and my parents were very happy to report all that in error. Now after eight weeks in bed I am looking forward to getting up and back to classes at good old junior high. Through the efforts of my home room teacher, Miss Iva Missmer, I have been keeping up with my studies at home.

Due to the excellent care I received, I expect to return to my battle with rheumatism a very normal person, although I will be restricted for some time. Being ill really isn't so bad when sister Girl scouts and junior high teachers and friends do so much to keep me happy.

Anyway from all reports I've had my Halloween fun and from all reports did a good job of it.

Fines and Costs Quizzed

To the Editor: Our fine Mercury is a good medium for all the up-to-the-minute news, but I and a good many more readers would like to know what "take" is for officers. Many times you state that John Doe was fined $10 and costs.

Many times the costs far exceed the fine. Therefore may I not respectfully make the request that you give us these figures in reporting court cases?

Perhaps there may be a lot of us interested to become a Justice of the peace or a constable.

Pottstown INTERESTED GI

EDITOR'S NOTE: Costs vary with the expenses involved in apprehending a lawbreaker and prosecuting him if the case reaches court. In Pottstown a parking violation on S. 31. But if a violator disregards a red ticket and a summons is issued, costs of $2.50 are imposed making the total assessment $3.50. If a summons is ignored and a warrant issued and a constable authorized to make an arrest, there is additional expense depending on the work and time required to complete the arrest.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

PAUL T. 38, is chairman of the finance committee in his church. "Dr. Crane, we are having a conflict over the matter of attending the choir loft and redecorating our church," he announced.

"The minister wants us to dress our choir in dark robes, and place them back in recesses so they don't face the congregation. He also wants us to install dual lights and give our auditorium more of the cathedral appearance."

"Many of our congregation are hard-working people who come to church not to be mystified by dim lights or over-awed into hushed fear, but to be given some practical help for the daily grind that follows."

"Thus far I've tried to be neutral. It will cost us $12,000 to make these proposed alterations, and we are already in debt. Dr. Crane, what would you do if you were in my place?"

Too many modern clergymen and church members are losing sight of the primary purpose of the church. They fail to realize that the local church is simply a factory which is supposed to turn out a wholesome product in the community.

It is thus folly to become so enamored of the factory building that we lavish an unwarranted amount of money on brick-ornate or stained glass windows, dim light and elaborate decorating.

The product is the essential thing which should be stressed, not the factory! When we begin to worship our buildings, we become idolaters. And when we coast about our costly pipe organ, or $50.00 stained glass windows, or carved chancel and altars, we have gone "ritzy" and have forgotten that Christ donated his services to the poor, but not for stained glass windows.

Jesus never emphasized elaborate buildings. In fact, much of his preaching was in humble homes and the great outdoors.

The farmer knows that those potato plants which are luxuriant, tall and most impressive to sight, usually produce very small tubers.

The purpose of a potato plant is not to grow flowers or "go to seed," but to produce big, meaty potatoes.

So it is with the church! Many of them, however, are "going to seed." With 70 percent of the world un-Christian and 48 percent of the United States not even nominal church members, we still pour millions into stained glass windows, and brick-ornate.

Christ didn't need dim lights and goose-pimply conditions in order to do his preaching. He taught on the sunny hillside of Galilee. His companions went for the relief of suffering and hunger.

He didn't urge the bulging of blazer tabernacles with more costly adornments. He urged repentance and changed lives, as well as changed living conditions.

The church is not supposed to be a fancy club or art institute, nor a dumpy hut chamber of fear and goose pimples. Clergymen who must rely on such artificial devices to influence an audience, are simply poor public speakers.

Look at your home and foreign missionary budgets, if you wish to deter the churchmen of America! These budgets are the "potatoes" which show the effectiveness of the church "plants."

Jesus preaches changed lives to excessively ornate buildings!

Sharp Tongues Factor In Dewey Unpopularity

By RAY TUCKER

SPOKANE, Oct. 14 — Two illustrious but sharp-tongued women of Republican ancestry may be partially responsible for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's failure to win the 1948 presidential nomination and for his defeat by President Truman if the New York governor should win that honor. They are Alice Longworth and former Representative Clare Luce of Connecticut.

Their belittling remarks about the 1944 nominee are popular by-words in this neck of the woods. The utterances of the New York Times' broad appeal Mrs. Longworth's reported description of him as "the little man on the wedding cake" has taken hold here as it never did when it was first uttered. The other damaging remark is that attributed to the playwright, "You really have to know Governor Dewey to dislike him."

CHANGE: It is no secret that the professional politicians never had any affection for the man at Albany. They did not warm to him in 1944, and he apparently did not increase his popularity with them on his recent trip through the Midwest. They looked for a change for the better insofar as their relations with him are concerned but they report that they found none.

But this attitude on the part of the rank and file, as reflected in derogatory remarks, is something new. It suggests that there will be no groundswell for him, as there was for Wendell Willkie in 1940, that forces the Warwicks to swallow their prejudices and take him again.

SURGE: Governor Dewey cannot be written off yet, for it becomes more obvious every day that the 1948 convention may be more "open" than any which the Grand Old Party has staged since 1920.

Nobody has a mortgage on the nomination yet, despite the growing, sentimental surge toward General Eisenhower. But, as yet, that is only a sentimental and unorganized movement, save for the preliminary "feelers" which have been put out by Alf Landon and Editor Roy Roberts of the Kansas City Star.

As the politicians survey the national field, and they are engaged in that exciting process at the moment, they always wind up with the question of "Where is Governor Dewey going to get the votes necessary to nominate?"

LINE-UP: Here is their view of the present-day lineup as they prepare to make their winter books: Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. will have the Massachusetts delegation, possibly other New England states and scattered representation among other groups. He will not withdraw too quickly, inasmuch as he may have a good chance for second spot, and will not want to use his delegates for trading purposes.

The Pow faction in Pennsylvania does not like the New York governor, and probably will stand by Senator Edward H. Martin until the big break comes along. Senator Robert A. Taft will be Ohio's favorite when and if he proclaims his formal candidacy. The Senate leader will bob up with southern strength, possibly Colorado, and other states in the mountain region.

Colonel Robert McCormick of the Chicago Tribune has no love for Dewey's internationalism, and he will have great voice with the Illinois representation. He probably will enter Gov. Dwight Green but, in any event, he would prefer Senator Taft to Dewey, Vandenberg, Stassen or any other supporter of President Truman's general foreign program.

SUPPORT: Senator Vandenberg and Stassen will control Michigan and Minnesota, respectively. With some showing among other groups, Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur may win if he lets his name be entered in the Wisconsin primary, and the other military hero can have the Kansas crowd if he wants it. It is generally believed that he does.

California is tied to Gov. Earl Warren, and he may show up with the general Far West delegation, provided he gives the word, and also decides that it would be advisable to tip off his support outside his own state.

Scouring between and beneath the legs of these more prominently mentioned men will be a covey of "favorite sons" who have no expectation of going any place, but want the publicity which mere mention of their names bequeaths.

In view of this spread-eagle field and in view of the new, popular disinterest in him, the practical boys are looking around for a more certain winner, even though they concede that the prospect of his carrying New York's 47 electoral votes is always a powerful asset.

BUSINESS: To E. J. M. of Santer, Cal., and to others wanting information on connecting with the government or private firms doing business in Europe.

The State Department expects to assume the work of the military in the American Zone in Germany. What agency arrangement will be set up for administering any Marshall Plan aid not known. Congress will probably decide that. For the moment, it would be advisable to write to State.

I have given these names before for the benefit of those preferring private connections in Europe. Write to Ben S. Lamb, Publicity Director, U. S. Chamber of Commerce, Washington, D. C.; to Walter S. Chammell, Publicity Director of the National Association of Commerce, Washington, D. C.; or to Dr. Amos E. Taylor, head of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C.

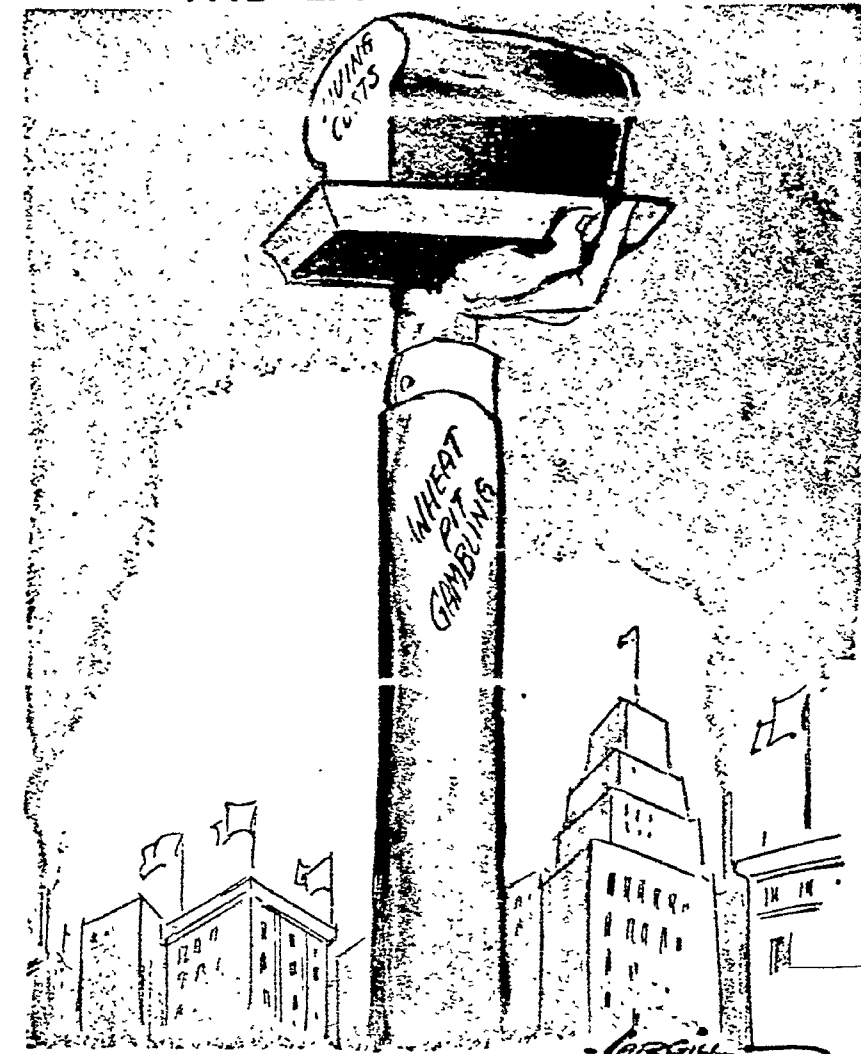

Write to all of them!

In Hollywood

By JIMMIE FIDLER

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 14 — Charles Russell, the actor spouse of Nancy Guild, is discovering that economics and philosophy don't jell. Miss Guild is playing opposite Orson Welles in "Cagliostro," now being filmed in Italy. A few weeks after she was cast for that picture, the producer offered Russell a role in the same movie. He and his missus talked it over and came to the reluctant decision that maybe the Hollywood sages, who contend that husbands and wives should never work together if they want their marriage to flourish, are right. Russell rejected the offer and Miss Guild went to Italy alone. Last week the stay-at-home husband had such a pathetic letter from the little woman, setting forth her loneliness and begging him to come to Italy for the duration of the picture, that he threw philosophy out the window and booked passage. For six weeks or so, he'll live in Rome—without salary—while another actor collects the paychecks he might just as well have cashed.

IDOL CHATTER: Imagine the disappointment of a hungry cannibal if Frank Sinatra were shipwrecked on his island. . . . Smile-alikes: Ellen Drew and Olivia de Havilland. . . . Off-hand, I can't imagine an actor demanding pay for playing love scenes with Linda Darnell; the world's over-run with men who'd gladly do it for free. . . . Aside to RKO Studio heads: In view of Lawrence Tierney's good record these past few months, don't you think it's about time to give him another chance? . . . Despite those mighty shoulders, Vic Mattern is unable to grow set of whiskers. . . . Wondering muse: After making such slighting remarks about his genius, would Rita Hayworth dare to let Orson Welles "saw her in half" again for his magic act? . . . Yep, Cathy is an attractive name, but it's getting darned hard to tell so many Carnies apart.

Attention to detail in making a picture may be vitruous at some times I wonder if it isn't a bit overdone by certain directors. For instance: Tay Garnett, directing "A Connecticut Yankee at King Arthur's Court" for Paramount, decided that it was imperative for "Sir Launcelot" to ride a huge black percheron horse for his jousting scenes. No such nag being listed by the stables which customarily supply horses to the studios, scouts were sent out to find one. At least a dozen percherons were "screen-tested" and pronounced unsuitable by Garnett before the horse of his dreams was discovered — not in Southern California but in far-away Iowa. I'm not an authority on either horses or jousting, but it does seem a bit ridiculous to bring a horse all the way from Iowa to appear in a single sequence of a single picture.

WHO'S the chiseler posing as Mary Pickford's cousin and trying to charge purchases to her account; police would like to know. . . . We hear that Gloria Swanson has shelved her ambitions for a screen comeback and taken a job as eastern representative for a travel agency. . . . The Jan Kiepuras are liquidating all their property in their native Poland, and will establish permanent residence in the USA.

You Can Be Too Rich
THERE is such a thing as being too rich — if not in dollar terms, then certainly in high cards. If you hold so many trick-takers in your own hand that you can be sure your partner hasn't a thing of value, the power of your own holding may shrink to futility. There are two kinds of plays which the declarer can then employ to bring about your undoing — the throw-in and the squeeze. He may even use both of them against you and thus beat you out of a couple of tricks which your side could have taken if your partner had any of your big cards.

"The worst experience I ever had at a bridge table," said West after he had been both squeezed and end-played on the one hand.

When he led the club K, South took a look at the dummy and noticed two probable losses in hearts, one in diamonds and two in clubs, a total of five. But he avoided two of them by playing West for every card of importance which was out.

Disliking to set up the club Q, West did not now lead a second club, but switched to the spade 8. South cleared trumps then in three rounds and led the club 6. With no point in holding up and noting that the dummy's Q was now established, West took this with the A and returned the 4. It was his only way to avoid leading from his honors in the red suits. South discarded his heart 10 on the club Q, then led to the now blank heart K. West took it and for once found a lead which was not distasteful to him, the heart Q, which South ruffed.

Then came the hardest blow of all, as South led his last three trumps. West discarded the best way possible to him, but it did no good. As the last spade was led, South held his two diamonds and dummy the A-9 plus the heart 9. West wouldn't set up the heart by discarding the J, so blanked his diamond K. The diamond 4 to the A dropped it and the Q got the last trick.

Right and Center Parties Win Seats in Italy Vote

ROME, Oct. 14 (AP)—Political parties of the right and center apparently won 45 seats in Rome's 80-member city council on the basis of complete returns today from Sunday's election, but there was no assurance they would join in a common front against the leftists.

It seemed likely that the newly-elected council, like the one chosen the past November, would be deadlocked over the choice of a mayor. Failure to agree on a mayor made Sunday's election necessary.

Rome's present chief municipal executive is a career prefect appointed by the government.

Early Romans used concrete made with lime in building aqueducts and bridges.

Among the attractions and facilities of the store were a special television alcove where visitors could sit in comfort while viewing the machine, and racks for furs, drapes and bedding. Step-down rooms break up the usual monotony of long floors to give each department a personal and homelike feel, while modernistic and flowered partitions combine to further divide the floor space and give this impression. The remodeling work of the store was directed and designed by Elizabeth Kauffner, New York interior decorator. Adv.

Advice to the Loveiorn

IF THERE were only some way by which young people could be made to understand that the present moment is far from the whole of life, they would save themselves a great deal of needless tragedy.

Fortunately, some young people seem to realize this by themselves, and accordingly proceed cautiously through their youth. But there are all too many others who can see no further than the temptation to take what they want at the moment and, in so doing, made mistakes whose aftermath can shadow their whole lives.

A girl who is beginning to realize something of this writes me as follows:

"I am going rather steady with a boy who respects me a great deal. Recently he told me he loved me, and I honestly don't feel worthy of him."

"I am 19 now, and when I was 17 I thought I loved a sailor and was intimate with him. Is it the time to tell this boy about this? I am not quite sure what his reaction would be, but I am so afraid to tell him, because he has put me on a pedestal. What shall I do?"

I know that many people will not agree with me but I believe that in most cases, it is wiser for a girl to let the man she thinks of marrying know about a thing of this kind in advance of their marriage. Naturally, I don't mean that she should just go ahead and blurt it out on the spur of some impulsive moment. She should, of course, find an appropriate opportunity for such a dignified personal disclosure.

The fact that the conventions are different in the case of the man who may have engaged in such affairs before his marriage, has nothing to do with the point. Undoubtedly it is unfair that this should be so, but to protest the unfairness is not to change it nor to change the results of what might happen if a girl left to chance the possibility of her husband finding out a thing of this kind after their marriage.

For whether we like it or not the fact remains that society still condemns a girl for what is tolerated in a man, and most men, however "modern" they pride themselves on being, side with society when it comes to their own personal life. Theoretically, they may consider that a girl has the same right as they reserve to themselves to live as she pleases while she is still single. In practice, the average man wants to be the first to be intimate with the girl he makes his wife.

If he discovers, after they have been married, that he is not the first, there is something about human nature that is apt to make him forever, just a little apprehensive that she may not always be faithful to him, and the smallest grain of mistrust keeps any marriage from complete happiness. Even if the girl tells the man that she has had an affair before she marries him, he may still never wholly trust her, even though he assures her that it makes no difference. And that is the risk a girl is running when she lets herself be swept into a pre-marital affair.

Happily, there are men with character enough to understand how a thing of that sort can happen, and perhaps the one about which the correspondent quoted above writes me is that type. The best I can do for her is to tell her she had better find out before she marries him.

Four Scout Troops Hunt Treasure, Get Chest Fund Appeal

A four-troop treasure hunt which found all but one of 37 Boy Scouts stumped by the last problem highlighted Monday night's meeting of Pottstown area troops.

All of the groups that met were addressed by representatives of the Pottstown Community Chest, who outlined the drive to the boys and distributed copies of a letter for their parents' information that said in part, "The Chest believes so thoroughly in Boy Scouting (this includes Cubs, Scout and Senior Scouts) that they're investing $4871 in your son and 650 other boys in the Chest area."

The representatives who made the rounds of the local troops were Robert Borneman, district scout executive; Harry Shellenberger, district commissioner, and Waverly Kiehl, district committeeman.

Troop 7 played host to Troops 5, 6 and 7 at the hunt, which ended in a section of woods near State street.

The treasure seekers were handed a note written in lemon juice to open the search. Those that deciphered this note sprinted to a door in a cemetery vault on Charlotte street, and from here they went to a telephone pole on the edge of town.

The stumper clue said the goal could be "found on a rock near the fire in a bag."

The speediest treasure hunters easily found the rock and the campfire. Dozens of them combed every corner of the area, disturbing Thomas Nagle, committeeman of Troop 5, in their search.

Finally, Carlton Bleam, Troop 6, decided the "bag" was Nagle's pocket. As a result of his astuteness, Bleam was awarded a new scout axe.

At the doggie roast and campfire which followed the hunt, Charles Tomakene, Troop 8, recited "The Cremation of Sam McGee," and Walter Ziegler, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 6, played several harmonica solos.

Troop 6 staged a stunt where in a blanket and four scouts represented an automobile that collapsed after a series of tire misfortunes.

Troop 7's stunt involved the illusion of a man emitting water like a pump, while other members of Troop 7 gave their version of what is "Hot News."

In addition to the 37 scouts attending, there were seven leaders. Plans for the night were in charge of Raymond Stichter Sr. and Jr., scoutmaster and assistant scoutmaster, respectively of Troop 7, and John Jacob, assistant scoutmaster, Troop 2, at its meeting in Christ

Episcopal church, voted to hold a cake sale Friday from 4 to 9 p. m. Cakes will be made by mothers of scouts and other women of the church, and the proceeds will be used to equip the new troop room being prepared in the church.

The troop, which returned from a weekend trip to its site at Camp Lake, decided to apply for a week-end visit to Camp Delmont some time in November.

The meeting was followed by a game period, supervised by Scoutmaster Walter Slichter and his two assistants, Albert Yerser and David Pender.

Stowe Troop 1 had one of its best attendance figures when 22 scouts went on a two-hour night hike to a site near Rattlesnake hill. The members packed small lunches which they ate at the site before returning.

Six members of the troop will be led some 14 miles to Bally and back Sunday by LaVerne Gaugler to pass their first class hiking test. The hikers will include Richard Bechtel, Dennis Hosperdor, Leidy Gaugler, William Kellerman and Charles Nagle.

Tentative plans also were made for a visit to Camp Delmont.

Let me do it now
I expect to pass through this world but once; any good thing therefore that I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any fellow creature, let me do it now; let me not defer or neglect it—for I shall not pass this way again

If you visit a town, you can go back to it... If you enjoy a book, you can read it again... Even a memory can be recalled... But time can never be brought back... Remember this when your Community Chest volunteer stands at your door. He rings your bell but once a year, asking you to do one generous act for thousands who may not pass your way again. always been active in the Bible class work.

National President Alvin Dewees, of Geneva, spoke of the State convention which will be held Saturday at Harrisburg. The Pottstown chapter will be well represented at the convention.

Guests from the borough were welcomed by Burgess William A. Griffith, who is active in a Bible class in the Emmanuelle Lutheran Sunday school.

The Pottstown Ministerium was represented by the Rev. A. Burton Hallock Jr., of the Presbyterian church. He said every church is now stressing evangelism. "It is vital that the laymen get busy in the church's work," he emphasized.

County President H. C. Cresswell spoke in an optimistic vein. He said he is proud that Pottstown federation now leads in the county.

The Rev. and Mrs. Donald T. Flory were near the addresses. Mrs. Flory is president of the Pottstown Council of Church Women.

Reference to the history of the organization was made by Emma H. Sands. His history appeared in print on the song sheet used at the dinner.

Secretary Merrill M. Umstead in a report on membership, said there now are 166 men on the roll. He praised Bible classes in nearby sections of Chester county for their efforts to make the federation a success.

Recognition of the workers was made by Bert Shaw, who is vice president of the local organization.

Group singing was directed by C. Russell Cannell with Mrs. W. R. Ober at the piano. The singing was a feature of the program.

The Keystone State Quartet, Frank Thomas, leader, made a hit with its singing of spirituals. Incidental dinner music was furnished by the Raymond S. Elliott ensemble.

The devotions were conducted by the Rev. Horace N. Olevier, pastor of the host church, and by the Rev. James D. Matchette, of Seaford Memorial Methodist church.

Grange Members

Held Dinner Inquiry

Twenty-nine members of Sanatoga Grange traveled to Kimberton Grange last night to present a program featuring an inquiry on the relative merits of oleomargarine and butter before 49 members of the host grange.

The general theme of the oleomargarine inquiry last night was that oleo should be subjected to a tax and should be labeled clearly to prevent confusion among buyers and users.

Members of the "investigative" committee were Irvin Mahr and Mrs. Russell Cartell, who was in charge of the entire literary program.

"Among witnesses" to appear were Doris Rinner, Mrs. Frances Schott, Mrs. Dorothy Miller, Mrs. Frances Mahr and Mrs. Betty Hanna.

Walter Schuler played several accordion solos and joined Samuel Hanna in a duet with Hanna playing the harmonica.

Ethelbert Barnard, master of Sanatoga Grange, delivered a humorous talk on "How to Feed a Cat."

Other remarks were made by several officers of the visiting grangers, and the program closed with several selections by the Sanatoga chorus.

BYRNES' BOOK —

that when he learned of the Wallace speech and its aftermath in the U.S., he sent a message to Mr. Truman reminding him that he had submitted his resignation in April on the advice of his physician.

He said he told Mr. Truman on Sept. 18, that if it was not clear that Wallace be asked to refrain from criticizing the foreign policy of the United States while in the Cabinet, he (Byrnes) "must ask you to accept my resignation immediately."

Byrnes and Mr. Truman exchanged messages on Sept. 19 in which Byrnes said that Wallace had destroyed in "one day" the "bipartisan policy" Mr. Truman and Byrnes had spent 15 months in making.

Byrnes today declared in an interview in Spanglersburg, S. C., that "men who want to preserve peace can generally find a way to do it," as his book, "Speaking Frankly," was presented formally to the public here in his home town.

Byrnes was honored at a reception and autographed books. Emphasizing the necessity for the American people and press to support his principle of "firmness with patience" toward Russia, and reiterating his confidence in the United Nations, the dapper little statesman asserted that "there is greater opportunity to settle disagreements with Stalin than with Molotov."

Nitrogen is necessary for life, since all proteins contain this element.

He said the Soviet government "and their Communist fifth columns in so many countries" might withdraw from the United Nations.

Such a division would lead to two worlds, he declared, but added: "If one of these worlds is far more powerful than the other and is equally vigilant, and is also sincerely desirous of maintaining peace, there is no reason why a two-world system should lead to war."

The British commonwealth would act with the United States "if any great issue should arise affecting human freedom," Churchill said.

He paid tribute to Smith as "a man of the highest quality of brain and heart."

workers fear this young arrangement might produce a situation where the best interests of Montgomery county agencies would be subordinated to Philadelphia interests, especially in regard to allotment of funds from Community Chest drives.

He emphasized that he will make a thorough investigation of the new set-up before committing the Family Welfare society to any union with it.

Martha B. Shoemaker, executive secretary of the society, announced she is beginning the preparation of data on the local tuberculosis seal drive which opens here next month. As illustrations of the work done with such funds, Miss Shoemaker cited the chest X-rays to be made tomorrow in the Junior High school and the fact that of the 39 active cases being handled by the society, 10 are tuberculosis.

It also was announced that the society's budget of $5800 or $200 less than the past year, has been accepted by the Community Chest without change, and that society members will appear before Pottstown civic groups this Winter to explain the society's policies and answer questions about its work.

The meeting was held in the organization's rooms in the Kulp building, High and Hanover street, and nine members attended.

Mt. Carmel Builders, Officials Here Center

On Erection of Homes

A conference with a building firm of Mt. Carmel was held yesterday afternoon at borough hall by Burgess William A. Griffith and Borough Manager Dow I. Sears in the interests of home construction in Pottstown.

Earl Kersetter and Anthony Veach of Mt. Carmel said they are interested in erecting moderate-priced single homes in Pottstown if suitable sites can be obtained.

Burgess Griffith said the proposition of the Mt. Carmel builders would be referred to a committee headed by Harold Bruner. This committee was appointed by the borough to advise plans whereon house building can be stimulated.

Kersetter and Veach said they found real demand for homes here. It was reported they have successfully carried on house building developments in Norristown, Mt. Carmel, Port Jervis, Brooklyn, N.Y. and Portsmouth, Va.

Pilot Is Forced Down, Lands Safely in Field

The pilot whose identity was not learned told residents of that section that he was lost on a flight from Trenton and decided to attempt a forced landing as darkness closed in about 8:45 o'clock.

The airmen landed down his ship to a tall and fence and went into Pottstown for overnight hotel accommodations.

The Rittenhouse farm is situated on Township Line road behind the Mingo Brethren church.

FLYING BOAT —

When those babies came on board." Two babies, 11 children, 15 women and 16 men had been brought aboard the Bibb, the skipper said.

The adults he said, suffered "a nervous reaction after coming on board" and many were miserable and seasick but the children "were all on their feet and put up a brave front."

One of the few flying boats used on the North Atlantic run, the Sky Queen was carrying what was described as the largest number of passengers taken on a transatlantic flight. Most of them were Britons en route to new homes in Canada and the United States.

The huge craft which can accommodate 68 passengers and a crew of 11 was flying a non-scheduled route to Liverpool, England, on American International Airways, which was formed five months ago.

The Bermuda Sky Queen is a four-motored Boeing 314A craft with a wing span of 152 feet. It has two decks, a flight deck and a passenger deck, the latter divided into nine sections that include a lounge and recreation room, passenger compartments, galley and rest rooms.

An early message tonight from the Bibb had said the pilot's landing was incomparable.

Smith pointed out that the philosophy outlined by the committee is only tentative and that suggestions from the rest of the teaching staff would bring it to its final form.

Twelve suggested committees also were listed for the evaluation program. These committees will be subject to change as the program moves toward completion. Smith said since some teachers may be better qualified to serve on another committee.

Fifty members of the North Branch Christian Endeavor society met last night in St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church, Knauertown, to hear an address by Aroh McQuilkin, of Wayne, an officer of the International Christian Endeavor of North America.

McQuilkin took as his theme, "The Lord Has Need of You." Following his talk members asked him questions about the relation of the International CE to the World CE.

Two letters were read from French girls who had received packages from the North Branch which were sent to them through the CE. Although the letters were written in broken English, they conveyed clearly their senders' gratitude.

Harold Steeb, temporary chairman of the reorganized group, said that membership is open to young men of Pottstown between the ages of 16 and 35, whether or not they are business or professional men.

Two attendance banners were awarded at the meeting—one to Coventryville Methodist church for having the largest percentage attendance, and one to Parkerford Brethren church for having the largest total present.

Tentative plans were made to have a large roadside poster erected by the North Branch on a highway near Phoenixville. It will contain a painting and the inscription, "Enlist for Christ."

Horace Boens sang several solos, accompanied by the regular North Branch pianist, Mrs. William Pennypacker. A piano solo was played by Rex Strickland.

At a short business session, in charge of President Clarence Quay, it was announced that all comfort bags for U. S. sailors which the group is making must be handed in at the next meeting. Nov. 11 in Parkford Brethren church, and that the Creston county CE will hold its annual Halloween social Oct. 30, 31 in Coatesville.

Evangelistic services will be held Oct. 18-26. The churches, and dates are: Oct. 19 and 20, St. John's Reformed church, Phoenixville; Oct. 21 and 22, Coventryville Methodist; Oct. 23 and 24, Windsor Baptist, Eagle; and Oct. 25 and 26, Brownsville.

back's Reformed church
Chester county CE will be in charge of services at the Chester
Rescue mission Nov. 29.

2d Robbery Suspect Seized in Arizona; Most of Loot Found

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14 (P)—The second of two men charged with robbing the National Bank & Trust company of West Grove, Chester county, was arrested today in Yuma, Ariz., and the Federal Bureau of Investigation said $7,639 of the $8,200 loot has been recovered.

Norman L. Rechuba, 25, of Lewisville, walked into the arms of waiting officers in the Arizona city. Lee V. Boardman, chief FBI agent here announced. Lawrence L. Griffin, 28, has been under arrest since Saturday at Wilmington, Del. Both are charged with robbery.

Rechuba, arrested with a 15-year-old girl companion, admitted participating in the holdup and said he fired at pursuers while escaping. FBI Agent Kenneth Logan said at Yuma, Thursday, two shot-gun-carrying bandits who threatened bank employees and a woman customer, scooped up a pile of currency shoved at them through a window and fled in a waiting car. A post-office clerk who fired six shots at the fleeing robbers was slightly wounded as they returned the fire.

Arrested with Rechuba, Boardman said, was 15-year-old Natalie Pierce, also of Lewisville. She was ordered held in $5000 bail as a material witness.

Rechuba, suitcase in hand, stepped from the train at Yuma, Boardman said, and inquired of Sheriff Jack Beard: "Could you direct me to a hotel?"

"He gave him the answer," said Boardman.

Police and FBI agents found Rechuba had $498 in his pockets and an additional $3153 in the suitcase, Boardman said. In addition $3988 of the stolen currency had previously been dug up in the yard of Griffin's home at Bear, Del., where he had buried the money in glass jars, the FBI reported.

Boardman said the U.S. Attorney had instructed Federal officials to hold Rechuba in $25,000 bond and return both he and Miss Pierce here.

To Sing Sermon

ELIZABETH W. BLACKBURN

Service to Feature Sermon Vocalist

Elizabeth Walls Blackburn, of Philadelphia, will sing the sermon at the 7:30 o'clock service in Emmanuel Lutheran church Sunday evening. Her subject will be "The Life of Christ."

Mrs. Blackburn studied dramatics and music at Swarthmore college and at Temple university, but after marrying a Methodist minister began to specialize in singing sermons instead of going on the operatic stage.

Calling her novel presentation an "operator for solo voice," the singer believes in introducing into sacred music the dramatic intensity and emotional appeal of opera in a simplified and direct arrangement.

Sunday evening's service will be built around "The Life of Christ," which takes 45 minutes to present.

of individual club members, and are entertained regularly at meetings. In addition, most of them are members of the Photograph club run by the Optimists and are under the informal supervision of their "Uncles."

Rev. Herr to Speak At Methodist Service

The Rev. Dr. John D. Herr will be the special speaker at the mid-week service tonight in the First Methodist church, High street east of Franklin.

Dr. Herr was appointed superintendent of the northwest district of the Philadelphia Annual Conference of the Methodist church the past May after serving for five years as the minister of the Mount Airy Methodist church in Philadelphia.

Prior to that, he was for seven years director of the Wesley Foundation at the University of Pennsylvania, which is the Methodist program among the university students. For the past 16 years, in addition to his pastoral duties, he also has taught on the faculty of the temple university school of theology.

Following the midweek service he will preside at the First Quarterly conference of First church. In the quarterly conference reports are made covering the activities of the church, and the district superintendent leads in promoting the program of the church in the local congregation.

Firemen's Association Hears Convention Report

Members of the Pottstown Optimist club entertained six boys at their meeting last night in the Kush restaurant.

Elwood R. Angstadt provided most of the fun with colored movies taken at meetings of the Pottstown Model Airplane club.

Dr. A. A. Gallo, president, took charge of the brief business meeting.

Altogether, more than a dozen boys have been adopted by Optimist "Uncles," according to Harry E. Sowers, club secretary.

Two years ago the schools of Pottstown gave the Optimists a list of youngsters who needed help, such as orphans and "problem" boys.

"You'll be fresh when you arrive ..."

"thanks to Hydra-Matic Drive!"

These words from Oldsmobile's new "radio song" have never been so aptly illustrated as in a typical ride to a football game. There's often a long distance to be covered. There's always traffic to contend with. Yet, if you're the driver of an Oldsmobile with Hydra-Matic Drive, you can ... "Just forget the clutch and gear. All you do is sit and steer!" That's true in football traffic, or any other traffic. True on the highway, too. Hydra-Matic Drive takes care of all gear shifting—automatically—through four forward speeds. And the clutch pedal is eliminated completely!

What makes it even more impressive ... this will be the ninth football season in which Hydra-Matic Drive has enabled Oldsmobile-owning fans to go to the games the easy way. GM Hydra-Matic Drive is a fully perfected, fully proved feature—and there's still nothing else on the market to compare with it.

Oldsmobile introduced Hydra-Matic Drive* 8 years ago. Today, Oldsmobile is still the lowest-priced car to offer it. Add to this Oldsmobile's traditional style-leadership—plus Oldsmobile's all-round, fine-car quality—and you'll see why so many football fans are Oldsmobile fans as well. You'll agree that ...

Car Thief Nabbed After Desert Chase

In California; Slugged Church Organist

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Oct. 15.—Two-gun Western officers, outraced on the highway, tracked down the accused kidnapper-robber of a church organist today after a manhunt which had led authorities of three states on the alert.

The search ended after a 200-mile flight in a van in the town of Mojave desert community of Amboy after a chase that at times had the elements of an early movie thriller.

Mrs. Ruth Radwanski, 22, and attractive, left a Methodist church social in Glendale last night and stepped into her car. She was quickly seized, she told officers, by a man who apparently had hidden in her dark new convertible. When she regained consciousness, only to find her kidnapper awaiting her.

"I asked him what he intended to do with me," she related. "He said he just wanted the car." He tossed her out here.

She continued, taking $17 but leaving her $3 for bus fare back to Glendale. She attracted a passerby's attention and notified officers.

An hour later her car was spotted racing through Victorville, north of here on the desert. A squad car took off in pursuit. Its speed sometimes approached 100 miles an hour, but it was outdistanced. So were two other sheriff's cars at Barstow. At Ludlow, with four cars now in pursuit, their quarry—in the manner of a Mack Sedan—two-reeler—slipped by a freight train at a grade crossing with inches to spare. The officers had to wait 12 minutes for the train to pass.

Near Amboy, other deputies chased a speeding truck and trailer, maneuvered it across the highway, spread out in front of and behind the road block. The speeding car, barely slowing, took off into the sand, spun around the barricade and raced on. But Constable Henry Prendergast put three slugs from his .43 into the machine, and soon doped off the highway. Arizona and Nevada officers, who had set up guards along their highways, were notified.

Then the tracking began. Poses fanned out through the sagebrush. Finally they traced their man into the house on the outskirts of town and he surrendered without a shot being fired. His own revolver was not loaded.

He told them, Sheriff James W. Stocker said, that he had headed aloft on a little-used road to Twenty-Nine Palms, but was frightened by the lonely country and hitched a ride back to Amboy, then hid.

Stocker said he gave his name as Robert James Greddie, 24, of New York, but later said he is Robert Parrotte, Greenville, Miss. He told officers he was a fugitive.

Phoenix, Ariz., jewelry store burglary the past week would be found in his Glendale hotel room. Then he refused to talk further.

Berks Tinsmith Killed In Fall Off Ladder

READING, Oct. 15.—Paul S. Waldman, a tinsmith and sheet-metal worker, was killed today when he fell from a ladder while removing a radio antenna from a roof. Community General hospital authorities said Waldman died of a compound fracture of the skull. Dr. Paul D. Good, Berks coroner, said he will issue a certificate following an investigation.

College Pranksters

Ordered to Pay $200

GETTYSBURG, Oct. 15.—Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college, announced that six students have been ordered to raise $200 to pay for damages to Western Maryland college buildings.

The six were arrested Oct. 3 in Westminster, Md., on the eve of a football game here between Gettysburg and Western Maryland. Westminster police reported a band of Gettysburg students splashed paint on buildings and damaged cars in a parking lot.

The six apprehended were released when Dr. Hanson promised to be responsible for restitution. He announced that any Gettysburg student who damaged another college campus in the future will be dismissed.

Every one complains of his memory; nobody of his judgment.—Rochefoucauld.

It's Up to Pottstown

A MT. CARMEL building firm has made overtures to come to Pottstown to erect much-needed houses here.

This firm wants to build something like 102 dwellings to sell in the neighborhood of $7500.

And if Pottstown wants more of the same, that firm would be happy to build more houses!

Say that's something to shout about. It's like manna from heaven!

Pottstown, with hundreds of families begging for living spaces, with veterans living in cellars and in chicken houses, NEEDS HOUSES!

Pottstown families who need these houses, can pay $7500 for homes.

THE QUESTION IS:
WHAT WILL POTTSTOWN DO TO WELCOME THIS FIRM HERE?

Pottstown, by all means, should lay out the plush carpet for the arrival of this building firm.

The key to the borough should be given to the builders. Every Pottstowner should go out of his way to welcome the saviors!

There's no time now for any delaying tactics. The builders should be given the green light. The borough should offer them all advantages. Every bit of groundwork preparatory to the firm's arrival here should be accomplished.

There is an opportunity here now for persons actuated with civic pride to do all within their power to aid this firm, to relieve a serious housing shortage here.

Pottstown industry has been clamoring for homes to house the workers it needs. Pottstown has promised to help industry find homes.

Pottstown veterans are living in "unhabitable" conditions.

Fire Prevention Week inspectors found families living in cellars, without ventilation, without exits except for stairs to a first floor. Other veterans' families are living in garages, in chicken coops, in tar-papered shanties.

POTTSTOWN PROMISED VETERANS THE BEST WHEN THEY WON THE WAR. Pottstown owes them the best.

The welcome of this firm to Pottstown seems to rest in the lap of Burgess William A. Griffith, who already has done much to show them the advantages of coming here.

Burgess Griffith has the power to make sure this firm will be treated right by everyone it deals with. He knows local conditions, knows the value of land, knows the worth of labor. For Burgess Griffith himself is a builder.

The burgess is sincere in trying to break the housing shortage. Now he can do all within the power of his office to offer his and the borough's every assistance in making sure that the Mt. Carmel building firm comes here.

There mustn't be any hitch this time.

Uncle Sam Doubles His Fists

SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL led the attack against Communistic Russia and its satellites at the very beginning of the General Assembly of the United Nations, and he arraigned the Soviet Union for its course which he charged was blocking the peace and stability of the World and which must be stopped before it could wreck the United Nations. He asked the General Assembly to take drastic action to end Soviet "obstructionism."

The Russians came back and spread all the fifth and dirt they could collect, going even so far as to call a member of the American delegation a "warmonger."

There is no question but what a crisis has been reached at Flushing Meadows where 53 member Nations are battling with questions that are unparalleled in diplomatic affairs.

The entire American press has lined up in support of the proposals agreed upon by the United States and more than 50 Nations with only a few Communist satellites supporting Russia.

While all may not be going well with the United Nations, it is nevertheless clear that action will be taken to curb the power of war which Russia has used to tie up the United Nations for two years. The top organization will rid itself of these foreign obstructions, perpetrated by the Russians, and transfer the time-honored to a minor committee.

In short, hopes are building for the success of the Marshall Plan. General Marshall has, himself, called for the help of the Russians, and before long, more of the United Nations will have the Communist taken out of their back.

This is the first time in 10 years that the United States and Soviet Union are at odds.

Dear Sir n' Brother:

Wal, I see by the papers where an Australian lizard has the vestige of a third eye at the back of its head. What a lucky creature—with a built-in rear view mirror.

Up in Canada a cat swallowed a roll of $10 in paper money. Just as if meat weren't high enough.

And say: An association of dentists staged its own golf tournament. They must have felt at home what with 18 cavities to fill in one afternoon.

Hopin' you are the same,

Preachers vs. Doctors

To the Editor: There are more preachers in the world today than ever before. Yet never since there was a world, has wickedness been so great. Have they made any progress in making the world a better place to live in? The answer is no and a big NO. It's getting worse.

There are many more doctors today. Have they made any progress? The medical profession has pushed on to greater things, conquered disease in its many forms and still moves on in its great work to make the world a better place to live in.

A doctor's time is never his own. If he is called at 2 o'clock in the morning to a sick bed, it may be through snow, sleet or rain, he goes. He doesn't say, "I'm sorry, I can't make it till daylight." Yet he pays taxes for his office where he gives aid to those who are ill in all ways.

The greatest and noblest profession that the Almighty gave to man is that of a doctor. Take off your hats to every one of them and thank God for them.

We can't all study to be doctors. It needs an education. We can learn of the Lord through His Word, the Bible, which tells us of no private interpretation and needs very little education to study. Pottstown A FARMER

A Treat Is a Success

To the Editor: In behalf of the members of Trinity choir, I want to express our sincere appreciation for the splendid publicity you gave Miss Naomi Watson when she appeared in her recent concert here.

A recital in our church by one of another race was a completely new venture for us, but with your co-operation we believe it was one of the most successful, both artistically and financially.

Those who heard Miss Watson will never forget her voice and personality and will join us when we say it was indeed a cultural treat for music lovers in Pottstown as well as an opportunity to see what determination and work—together with course with talent—can accomplish.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

FLORENCE M., 21, was a former student of mine.

"Dr. Crane, you have undoubtedly noticed how frequently I blink my eyes whenever I am nervous," she began our interview.

"All my life I have been high strung and very sensitive. When I was in grammar school, I used to jerk my head to the right. Every time I was called on to recite, my head would keep jerking toward the right several times per minute.

"Of course, the other children used to ridicule me for this nervous habit, but I just would jerk myself. In fact, my head would jerk even when I wasn't aware of it."

"Now I seem to have overcome that trait, but the trouble has shifted to my eyes. I blink them repeatedly, just as if I were trying to blink back the tears."

"Dr. Crane, what is wrong with me? I am so conspicuous and self-conscious about my trouble that I feel as if I'll die if something isn't done."

This is a beautiful case to illustrate what we call a "tic" in contrast to St. Vitus's dance or chorea.

A tic is a neurosis involving the sudden spasm of a group of muscles that would normally function as a voluntary act. Tics, therefore, have a definite psychological purpose, although the original occasion for the act may now be almost forgotten.

Florence doesn't know why she used to turn her head nor why she now blinks her eyes rapidly, and meanwhile rolls her eyeballs upward. But these actions indicate a deep-seated conflict.

In effecting a cure it is usually helpful to date the onset of your neurosis.

"How old were you when you first started jerking your head?" I thus inquired.

"Oh, I think it was while I was in the second grade," she answered.

"Then often indicate on a picture record," I continued. "Did anything occur then or just before it?"

"I don't know," she didn't reply.

"Where did you first learn about this?" I then asked.

"That was the first time I was brought on for treatment and was told that I had a tic," she said.

"I had a tic," she said.

"I had a tic," she said.

"I had a tic," she said.

"I had a tic," she said.

WASHINGTON

Great Northwest

Starved for Power

By RAY TUCKER

SPOKANE, Oct. 15.—The Great Northwest is so starved for water power that its remarkable postwar growth—an expansion which amazes everybody from bankers to lumberjacks—may be halted unless the Truman administration and Congress come to the rescue.

Despite the millions spent in construction of Bonneville and the mighty Grand Coulee, which is advertised out here as "the eighth wonder of the world," several factories have had to shut down for want of power. Others are still dependent on steam. Still others are wiring it in on a grid that extends as far east as Salt Lake City. The area will burn 2,600,000 gallons of oil in 1947 to maintain production.

The almost sensational feature of this "inland empire's" prosperity and plight is that it has been accomplished despite the closing down of many airplane plants and ship-building yards that mushroomed in Washington and Oregon during the war. The fishing and mining industries have also slumped. Nevertheless, pay rolls, employment, retail sales and other indexes of solid, economic health have remained almost at wartime peak. It is almost impossible to get a seat on a plane, a room in a hotel or a place to eat.

It is not the historic industries of the Northwest—lumbering, mining, shipping, agriculture—which alone account for its boom. They are doing well, but they would not have saved this section from a postwar let-down and liquidation that so many economic "experts" at Washington forecast.

ALUMINUM: The great answer to the prosperity and to the alarming power famine can be expressed in one word—aluminum. This fairly new industrial product, which helped to win the war and may yet change the face of the United States with respect to housing, transportation, home furnishings, heating etc., underlies the area's more recent advance.

And the man held chiefly responsible is the big, bruising boatbuilder whom so many Eastern financiers, industrialists, RFC money lenders and politicians hate and fear—Henry J. Kaiser. He has his enemies here, too, but they say that he could be elected to any office because of his great popular following. This is his home country.

And the folks are solidly behind him in his demand for Congressional or administrative revision of allegedly discriminatory freight rates. Pittsburgh-plus pricing systems and similar economic handicaps. Nowhere is the West's bitterness against Eastern interests, including certain candidates for the Republican presidential nomination, greater than in this great proud corner of the United States.

Kaiser insists, for instance, that he can open many new markets for both aluminum and magnesium if he can ship it east of the Rockies—and east of the Alleghenies, too—on equal terms with competing products, especially steel. Pending a break in this blockade, he, the chambers of commerce and business men are trying to attract many small industries to locate near the aluminum production plants.

ISSUE: This demand for recognition will grow into a still more violent issue at the next session of Congress. How the major parties handle this sectional rivalry and disagreement may determine how they will fare out here in 1948.

That fact has been impressed on every politician who has recently toured the region—Devery, Stassen, Taft and Martin.

Indeed, the people of Washington have soured on President Truman's erstwhile crony and fishing companion, Gov. Mons Wallgren—because many do not think that he has been sufficiently alive to these problems. They think he should have used his influence, if any, with the man in the White House to press those claims. His apparent failure to do so has put a definite crimp in his incipient, vice-presidential boom.

POWER: Local people place partial blame for the power crisis on failure of Washington to develop and carry out a definite, long-range policy on this question. Their particular local devil is Dr. Paul J. Rayver, a former professor, who heads the Bonneville Power Administration by appointment of F.D.R. Instead of persuading Washington to build new dams and generators for greater production of hydro-electricity, they charge that he seeks only to force "public power" on the region.

He spends more time in trying to build competing transmission lines, they say, than in increasing the supply. Incidentally, "public power" has twice been defeated in Spokane by a two-to-one vote.

The indictment of Washington as responsible rests on a deeper basis, involving the whole future of power development here and elsewhere. Private power spokesmen seem to hold no grudge against the government's invasion of this field. They admit that Bonneville, Grand Coulee, McNary and similar projects are too big for any private company or a group of firms to undertake, especially during the depression and war years when they were built or expanded.

FRIGHTENED: But the government's entry has furnished real capital out of the field. Private investment cannot compete in any long-range development. So Uncle Sam must now produce the price needed here now and in the future. He has assumed the responsibility, to the point of "usurping" this domain they think that Washington carry the load—or quit.

In their opinion, the federal government is doing neither. Dr. Rayver is digging even deeper into distribution. But neither he nor the Administration have had the foresight to provide sufficient, firm, basic power. For want of it, the Great Northwest suffers at a time when its economic future was never more bright.

LOSING two tricks in one suit and one in another adds up to exactly the same total as one in the first suit and two in the second. It should be as plain as two and two make four or as shining baloney leaves it still baloney, no matter how thin the slices. But there are many occasions on which the lazy player does not look around and find a way to apply that simple principle while protecting himself against the possibility of dropping still another trick.

Dr. John Levan Joins Memorial Hospital's Consulting Staff; Developed Oscillating Bed

Dr. John M. Levan, of Reading, the physician who developed the use of the oscillating bed for use in the treatment of vascular diseases, has become a member of the consulting staff of the Memorial hospital, it was announced yesterday.

He worked out the principal of the bed, which swings a patient gently from head to foot while serving in the Army during World War II.

The bed, which was used by physicians treating the late mother of President Truman, is for patients confined to the bed for long periods of time. It was widely utilized by the Army for fracture cases.

Dr. Levan was graduated from Lafayette college in 1932 and from the University of Pennsylvania Medical school in 1936. He interned at St. Joseph's hospital, Reading, and undertook special studies at the University of Michigan, the graduate school of the University of Pennsylvania, and at the Mayo Clinic.

He received active service in June 1942 being stationed at McClellan General Hospital as Chief of the King and Penn. streets section of cardio-vascular diseases. In April, 1946 Dr. Levan returned to St. Joseph's hospital to become Chief of the Cardiac clinic.

The new consulting physician at Memorial hospital is a member of the Berks county Medical society; the Pennsylvania State Medical society, and the American Medical association.

Dr. Levan is also a Fellow of the American College of Physicians; a Diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine, and a member of the American Heart association.

In addition to his work in developing the oscillating bed, Dr. Levan worked on a test for coronary disease, published in War Medicine in 1945, and a routine of treatment used in preventing coagulation of blood in phlebitis and embolism published in December, 1946, in the Annals of Internal Medicine.

School Directors Seek Collections Of $4500 in Taxes

That action might be taken to collect delinquent per capita taxes totaling $4500 was indicated at a meeting of Boyertown board of school directors last night in the high school.

The delinquent taxes have accumulated from 1938 to 1946. The board will confer with H. Leon Breitenbach board solicitor, to try to work out a method of collection.

The board authorized George B. Swinehart, supervising principal, to name Mrs. Franklin H. Gortshall as substitute clothing teacher, effective Oct. 20, since Margaret C. Herster who has accepted a position at Coatesville High school, will leave at the close of sessions tomorrow to take up her new duties.

Harvey D. Ritter, board president, announced that regularly-elected school auditors have audited the accounts of 30 clubs and activities of the high school, including the athletic association and the school cafeteria and found them in excellent shape. Conducting the audit were Daniel H. Zuber, Walter C. Broome, and Lewis P. Leidy.

Lawrence E. Grim, high school principal, and S. E. Renart, the supervising principal, announced recent approval from the Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg to house a 16 mm motion picture projector in the high school auditorium, and this approval was also put in writing by the Middle Department Association of Fire Underwriters. As a result, the board last night approved purchase of a 16 mm Bell and Howell Film-Art

"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when the lower part gets blocked food may fail to digest properly.

What you want for real relief is something to "unblock" your lower intestinal tract. To clean it out effectively—help Nature get back on her feet.

VFW Unit to Handle War Dead Services

A committee to take charge of any military details connected with services for returned service personnel who died overseas in World War II was named at a meeting of Boyertown Post 3487, Veterans of Foreign Wars in the Orioles home.

Forrest Miller, 58 South Reading avenue, is chairman and any requests for information or military rites should be communicated to him. Other committee members are Carroll Weller, Paul Krause, Ralston Shutt, Herbert Johnson, Charles Sell, Russell Lechner and Lester Fryer, the post commander.

Charter night for the ladies auxiliary of the post will be observed on Monday, Oct. 27, at 8 p. m. in the Orioles home. Mrs. Ethel Montague, of Huntingdon Valley, was present at the meeting to explain the setting up of an auxiliary. She said mothers, sisters and wives can sign up as charter members on Oct. 27. It was also pointed out that relatives of men who served overseas — even though the man may not be a member of the post — are eligible.

It was announced that the application of the home association for a club charter was refused. Further attempts will now be made to secure one.

DAVID WILSON —

with him the night of the tragic swimming party and who had alternated with his parents in watching him.

There were his nurses, Helen M. Shuler, of High and Madison streets, who was his constant companion during his stay in the hospital, and Mrs. Sherman, who visited him the past three weeks.

There were his physicians, especially Dr. Lerch, who marveled as David remained cheerful day after day, despite the fact he had no enjoyments beyond hearing stories read to him, listening to the radio, or getting a peek at his window through a special mirror arrangement his father had made.

And there were the 2200 Pottstown residents who, ten years ago, had contributed to The Mercury fund that had purchased the iron lung.

David had attended borough schools, and would have been a sophomore this year. He had tried out for several teams but had never made the first team. He was a member of St. Joseph's Lutheran church, and his pastor, Dr. Gustave W. Weber, was one of the few outside his family permitted to visit him.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by his maternal grandparents, Lillie Ellen and Emmanuel R. Kulp, 65 Edgewood street, and his paternal grandparents, Mabel A. and John Wilson, Reading.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from a funeral home at 112 North Washington street. Interment will be made in Highland Memorial park.

SAFETY AWARDS —

Another fault is the idea of having the "right of way" over the other driver. Don't always blame the other driver. It is a common claim by drivers in accidents that they are only going 20 to 25 miles an hour.

"I plead with you to join in a crusade 365 days in the year and 24 hours a day. Needless tragedies can thus be lessened."

Private Martin Kiggins, of the Collegeville State Police station, also spoke on safety and a reel of motion pictures was shown.

Burgess William A. Griffith extended greetings from the borough. Manager O. C. Bearcraft of the Pottstown Automobile club; Davis C. Knauer, insurance man; George W. Russell of the Schulz company; Warren F. Brooks, Philadelphia insurance man; Charles L. Schulz, president of the company; Frothnotary Earl B. Bechtel, and Carl L. Rugart of Philadelphia also spoke briefly.

Rugart made the awards. Among them were the following for ten years' safe driving: Jenson Kepner, Charles Reifsnnyder, Edward Heimbach, Walter Sychard and Adolph Metzler. A nine-year award was made to William Kummerer, while William Moser, Ammon Schott, Paul Hoffman and Samuel Fry were given eight-year pins and certificates.

Among the guests were Chief of Police James A. Laughhead, Officer Daniel W. Guldin of North Coventry township, Attorneys Carroll Rutter and William A. O'Donnell, Leon Seiders, Fred Houser of Philadelphia, and Paul Bussey of Chicago.

A turkey dinner was served.

ATHLETE IN HOSPITAL

READING, Oct. 15 (P) — An Albright college athlete, Joseph S. Kubisen, 21, of Hershey, was being held for observation and X-rays tonight in St. Joseph's hospital after he collapsed here during a cross-country meet between Albright and Lafayette college today.

Schools Ready to Receive Donations for Hospital

Today is Donation Day for the Memorial hospital, and food contributions will be accepted at all local and rural area schools.

Mrs. George L. Harberger, chairman of the hospital's junior auxiliary, which is in charge of the annual campaign, urged parents to provide their children with any variety of food today—vegetables, fruits, or canned goods.

As in past years, trucks will visit all the schools to gather the contributions which will be used to assist in the restocking of the larder of the Memorial hospital.

CIO CONVENTION —

visitors and guests applauded that statement and again when he said: "No section of the American population has a more vital stake in the preservation of free institutions in the world than has American labor."

Marshall said that the "basic problem of world recovery is production"; that food and coal are "immediate requirements."

Brooklyn is a corruption of a Dutch name, "Breukelen."

5-CAR ACCIDENT —

Leister, 30, Reading; Stuart Kline, 30, Monaca; Andrew Stranick, 39, 702 North Evans street; John Hefflinger, 37, Reading; and Arthur Bitting, 41, Reading.

Bitting had a slightly cut lip, but none of the other drivers were hurt except for the initial jarring effect.

The brother of the only hospitalized man, Joseph Binaszewicz, 418 South Tenth street, Reading, incurred a bloody nose. Both he and his brother were in Hefflinger's vehicle.

Reactions of the autoists varied. Said Stranick, "I just had time to stop, but the car behind me hit me and rammed me into the car in front of me."

Hefflinger described his part in the pile-up: "I slowed down from 40 miles an hour to about 30 when I saw this fog in front of me. The car ahead was only a few inches away when I saw it and I jammed on my brakes. I didn't hit him hard, but the driver behind me ploughed into me and did a lot more damage."

Trooper Patrick Higgins, investigating the accident for the West Reading barracks, State police, said, "The field hand was very co-operative, and stopped his work as soon as I told him to."

Higgins declared that the investigation is still open, and that at present, no charges are being brought against anyone involved in the pile-up.

Fuel Oil Shortage To Hit U. S. Homes, Senate Unit Told

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—Some American homes are going to be cold this winter, because of a shortage of fuel oil, witnesses told a Senate committee today.

Though they agreed on that point, the witnesses disputed sharply on how the situation will be affected by the Commerce department's action in approving a license for the export of 200,000 tons of critically short steel pipe for a Middle East pipeline.

Russell B. Brown, representing the Independent Petroleum Association of America, told the Senate small business committee that if this steel had been made available to the domestic oil industry it would have gone a long way toward meeting a prospective shortage of fuel oil and gasoline in this country.

Max Ball, director of the Interior department's oil and gas division, denied that the steel, if used here would help the situation this winter.

Ball conceded that its export will increase the "hardships" Americans must face in the winter of 1948-49 but said that construction of the pipeline would help relieve a world shortage of oil by the winter of 1950 and 1951.

Ball's division opposed on July 14 the granting of a steel export license to the Trans-Arabian pipeline company for the construction of 1100 mile line from the Arabian fields to Lebanon ports. On Sept. 17, however, the division "reluctantly" recommended approval of the license, Ball testified.

Chairman Wherry (R-Neb) directed sharp criticism at Ball for this change of position.

'47 Farm Income Highest on Record

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—Farm income this year will be the highest on record and probably will remain high next year, the Agriculture department said today.

This year's gross farm income was estimated at $34,300,000,000 or 13 percent above the past year. Net income—the difference between gross income and production expenses—was estimated at $18,000,000,000.

Looking to 1948, a department report said income would depend largely on the volume of crop production and foreign demand.

"Domestic consumer purchasing power seems likely to remain high. Farm production expenses may continue to increase in 1948 and even if gross income is maintained at the 1947 level, net income may not be quite so high as in 1947."

Total cash receipts this year are expected to show the largest percentage gain over the previous year since 1943, the department said. In general, this is due to a substantial increase in prices for farm products chiefly in the first half of the year.

The department said farm expenses this year are running more than 16 percent above the past year when they totaled $14,000,000,000.

RELIEF WORKER PASSES

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength—and staved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in men, women, children, and infants.

Also SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the percentage of the juice when it is absorbed—so you get more out of it. Just the tonic you need to get back to normal, to eat, to rest, to give off heat and energy.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. To increase your energy, to increase your body, to increase your strength and stamina should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a happier, more colorful life. SSS Tonic is the tonic you need to get back to normal, to eat, to rest, to give off heat and energy.
